ANNUAL REPORT

THE TRUSTEES OF THE NEW YORK SOCIETY LIBRARY.

In accordance with the standing rule, which makes it the duty of the Chairman of the Board of Trustees to prepare "a Report on the affairs and state of this Institution," to be laid before the Constituent Body at the Annual General Meeting of the Shareholders, for the current year, the following Report is submitted.

The condition of the Finances of the Library will be shown by the Report of the Treasurer, which has been duly audited by a Special Committee, and they have made their report. Both of these reports form part of this Annual Report. The Auditors also specify the value of the Real Estate, held in trust for this Corporation, at its present estimate.

Annexed also to this Annual Report will be found a List of the Books purchased for the Library, whether the same have been by purchase or donation. In the latter case, the names of the respective donors are given, and their liberality thus acknowledged.

It will be perceived that no satisfactory valuation can be affixed to these large collections in general, from the fact that many of the works on the shelves are rare and unique; and that numbers of the "publications" cannot be easily duplicated, while some others, if lost, cannot be replaced at any cost. Any attempt, therefore, to make a proximate valuation would probably fail to give satisfaction; the tastes and opinions of literary experts in these respects being known widely to differ.

The privileges of the Library, it must be admitted, are confined, to a certain extent, to those who can purchase a share. It is therefore by the organization of this Society Library at its inception that the regulations governing the circulation of its books and papers and their use were restricted to the shareholders, and thus it became confined to the classes whose means enabled them to procure a permanent interest in it, which each could transfer at pleasure, but subject in all cases to a stipulated yearly payment on each share.
These are the sources of its income. The growth of the City, the increase of its population, and its corresponding wealth, have enlarged the demand for a wider range of publications, while at the same time this growth and this increase have had regard to the social character of the Institution.

Now let it also be borne in mind, that this peculiar feature in the original formation of the Society Library requires a discriminating selection in its additions, from time to time made under the care and the judgment of the Library Committee at their weekly sitting. Thus further, as has been stated in previous communications to the stockholders, its influence is brought to bear upon the more highly cultivated classes, and their reciprocal estimate of the additions made from year to year is both an index and a guide to those upon whom rests the responsibility of the selections.

Before concluding this particular view of the subject, may it not be asked, and asked with due appreciation of the question, whether a library, thus conducted, does not tend to introduce to the young of both sexes “a pure and elevated intellectual pleasure,” and to exclude “that of a trivial, gross and demoralizing character?”

During the year, over 800 volumes have been added to the Library, by purchase and by gift. The latter include some important additions to the special De Peyster Collection, presented by Frederic De Peyster and Gen. J. Watts De Peyster, and also a considerable gift by Mrs. John Romeyn Brodhead, a selection from the valuable library of her husband, the eminent historian of our State, whose long and faithful service to this Institution, as a member of its Board of Trustees and of its Library Committee, will ever be held by us in grateful recollection. It is with much satisfaction also that the Trustees express their sense of the value of the constantly occurring donations of separate books and pamphlets, from our own members and others—a gratifying proof of the regard in which the Library is held, and of its capacity to serve the interests of the men of letters in our community who frequently send us their productions.

The Library has been placed, during the year, in a state of increased usefulness by a process of careful cleaning and rearrangement, attended by a verification of its stores by the printed and manuscript catalogues, bringing to light various volumes which had been mislaid, and others not hitherto catalogued—among them several of particular interest in tracing the early history of the collection.

The completion of this labor in the arrangement of the books renders the publication of an adequate catalogue more than ever practicable, as it has long been desirable to the members of the Institution. It is too obvious a remark to need enforcement, that a circulating library for every-day use, such as that which we possess, can be used to advantage only by the possession at home of an exhaustive and well-prepared catalogue. It is earnestly to be hoped that during the present year some efficient progress may be made in the publication of such a work.

In connection with the conduct of the Library during the year, we have to mention the retirement of the Assistant Librarian, Mr. Cana, who, after a faithful service to the Institution of more than seven years, has passed to a kindred sphere of usefulness in the charge of the Library of the College of New York. His place has been supplied by the appointment of Mr. John Forbes, the son and grandson of former librarians of this Institution.

It has long been a matter of special interest to the Trustees to provide further accommodation for the ladies who are shareholders, who have of late years, in increasing numbers, availed themselves of the privileges of the Library. The question has been asked, "Are the ladies entitled to the use of the Reading Room?" to which the answer has, of course, been given, that they have the same privileges as any other members of the Institution. To avoid any misunderstanding on the subject, the Trustees have directed a suitable sign to be placed at the entrance, bearing the inscription, "Reading Room for Ladies and Gentlemen." Ladies are thus specially invited to avail themselves of what has now become perhaps the leading feature of the Library. The list of Periodicals and Newspapers attached, all of which are promptly placed upon its tables, will show the growing importance of this department, which faithfully represents all contemporary interests in every province of inquiry. We may especially refer, among recent additions to the representation of the literature of art, rendered desirable by the formation of the Public Galleries in our City, in such periodical publications as the Gazette des Beaux-Arts, the Portfolio, and other journals having similar objects in view.

In addition to the use of the Reading Room, for which extra service in attendance has of late been provided, offering new facilities to lady visitors, the adjoining room in the hall has been specially set apart for their exclusive accommodation. It will be appropriately furnished, and bear the inscription, "Ladies' Room."

In providing this accommodation the Trustees confidently look, with an increased use of the Library Building, to an enlargement of the means of usefulness in the effective improvement of the Institution by additional resources in new subscriptions and memberships. In furtherance of this, they confidently appeal to all interested in its objects to promote its welfare by bringing in new members. The lapse of time, in an old Institution like our own, necessarily brings with it many changes, in the removal from the city of its members, the vacancies in its shareholders by death and other causes. Under these circumstances, there is, of course, an inevitable tendency to a falling off in resources, unless the deficiency is supplied by the accession of new members. In this respect the New York Society Library has of late years accomplished very little; while its inducements to membership have been constantly increasing, no corresponding effort has been made to enlarge the list of stockholders.
This is a matter which requires the serious attention of the members. A vigorous attempt should immediately be made to extend a knowledge in the community of the advantages offered to the families of our citizens by this Institution. Entirely free from debt, admirably situated for the public convenience, easy of access from all the best parts of the city, with an efficient organization, the most liberal inducements in the present in its ample Library and Reading Room, and the capacity for enlarged efficiency in the future, the benefits of membership of this old New York Association have, it is believed, only to be adequately brought to the notice of our leading citizens to meet with a prompt response. In the effort which will immediately be made by the Trustees to accomplish this end, it is confidently expected that they will have the hearty co-operation and effectual assistance of the entire body of shareholders. Prosperous as its affairs now are, it is not too much to assert that its usefulness and substantial welfare, in a way to be felt by every member, may, by vigorous and united effort, be speedily increased a hundred fold.

FREDERIC DE PEYSTER, Chairman.

Secretary.
