Staff Changes

After twelve years as the Library’s Acquisitions Librarian, Susan O’Brien returns to her native Dublin to open her own shop, Anthology Books. “I’ve enjoyed being part of a library with such a rich literary and public service history,” she says. “People have always smiled when I told them I bought books for a living; I want to see if they still smile when they hear I’m selling them. I hope Anthology Books will be a resource for literary works of excellence from international small and alternative presses as well as a comfortable space.”

Steven McGuirl takes over the Acquisitions Office in September. He comes to us from the Jefferson Market Public Library.

Along with his love of books, Mr. McGuirl is an expert in American vernacular music and enjoys American cultural histories and classic crime novels. Mr. McGuirl says he looks forward to adding to this Library’s distinguished collection and history.
NEW YORK IS BOOK COUNTRY
Sunday, September 23, 11:00 A.M.-5:00 P.M. along Fifth Avenue between 48th and 57th Streets

Come out and meet these authors at the Library’s booth in the twenty-third annual New York Is Book Country street fair, and stay to watch bookbinder Howard Stein demonstrate his craft.

MEG CABOT ON THE PRINCESS DIARIES: THE INSIDE SCOOP FROM BOOK TO FILM
Wednesday, October 17, 5:30 P.M., the Members’ Room

What happens when Manhattan teen Mia Thermopolis finds out her father rules a small country, and she is the heir to the throne? Meg Cabot tells all in The Princess Diaries, recently made into a movie starring Anne Hathaway, with Julie Andrews as the royal grandmother who gives Mia daily “Princess Lessons.” Ms. Cabot will discuss how she developed the story and how the book was transformed into a film. She will also share a sneak peek from the series’ upcoming third book, Princess in Love. This free program is for members and their guests from fifth grade to adult.

ELIZABETH WINTHROP ON BECOMING A WRITER
Thursday, November 8, 5:30 P.M. the Members’ Room

Author Elizabeth Winthrop will discuss how she became a writer and how children can develop their own writing talent. "I always tell the kids that by the time you are twelve years old, you'll have all the memories you need to write a hundred books," she says. Ms. Winthrop is the author of The Castle in the Attic, Island Justice and more than fifty other books for children and adults. She hails from a family of writers including Theodore Roosevelt and his cousin Franklin, the subject of her novel in progress, Dear Mr. President. This free program is for members and their guests from second grade to adult. Call the Events Office to register.

SMART SURFING FOR KIDS: A FAMILY INTERNET WORKSHOP

Tuesday, October 16, 5:30 P.M. and Saturday, October 20, 1:00 P.M., Whitridge Room

Want to explore the Egyptian pyramids, watch a volcano erupt, or visit the White House? Maybe get homework help or publish a story you’ve written? Then join Children’s Librarian Carrie Silberman for a family tour of the best educational and recreational sites on the Internet. She will also discuss online safety tips. This program is for families with children in grades one to five. Call the Events Office to register.
Trustee and columnist Christopher Gray expands his guided tours to the 79th Street area, a memorable pocket of the Upper East Side. The tour will meet in the Library lobby and last approximately 45 minutes. And for those who missed learning about the Library's architecture and history last season, he will repeat "The NYSL Top to Bottom" on November 3 and December 1. Space is limited; call the Events Office to register.

2001-2002 Author Series

WENDY WASSERSTEIN ON SHIKSA GODDESS
Wednesday, October 17, 6:30 P.M., Temple Israel, 112 East 75th St.

In thirty-five essays Wendy Wasserstein's Shiksa Goddess covers everything from her sister's battle with cancer to the charm of cardboard coffee cups. She joins our Author Series to share insights from that book and from a writing career that includes the Pulitzer- and Tony-Award-winning play The Heidi Chronicles. Washington University called her speaking style "pure Wasserstein--warm and witty and wise and intelligent, honest and evocative." Ms. Wasserstein has been a member of the Library for many years and serves on the boards of Channel 13/WNET and the Guggenheim Foundation. She has also taught at New York University, Columbia and Princeton. This lecture is free for members and their guests.

Tours with Architectural Historian Christopher Gray

79th Street Tour: Saturday, October 6, 10:00 A.M.

"NYSL Top to Bottom": Saturdays, November 3 and December 1, 10:00 A.M.

Conversations on Great Books

Andrew Delbanco on Herman Melville
Tuesday, November 20, 5:30 P.M., Members’ Room

November marks the 150th anniversary of Moby-Dick's publication. In celebration, Andrew Delbanco, Professor in the Humanities at Columbia University, will join Library members to talk about its author's writing and world. Professor Delbanco is one of the country's leading commentators on American literature, culture, and conscience, and is now publishing Writing New England: An Anthology from the Puritans to the Present (Harvard University Press). He has received honors from many distinguished associations, including the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, which elected him a Fellow in 2001. This Conversation will focus partly on Moby-Dick but principally on Melville's classic story "Bartleby, the Scrivener." The event is $10 for Library members and guests; call the Events Office to register.
Technology Workshops

Steve Baumholtz and Ingrid Richter introduce computer and research skills. Call the Events Office at 212-288-6900 x230 to register for these free classes. All workshops meet in the Whitridge Room and last approximately 90 minutes.
